

Abstract

In a device for the external monitoring of a motor vehicle, comprising at least one camera, it is envisaged that the camera is disposed in the region of a pivot axis of a rear window wiper of the motor vehicle.